

Original Source:

<http://muchbetterhealth.org/bioresonance/>

Bioresonance

Bio resonance machine therapy Nelson New Zealand

I have worked as a Bioresonance therapist since 2008 and I have a Certificate in Proficiency as a Bioresonance Therapist from the Regumed Institute.

What is Bioresonance therapy?

Bioresonance therapy belongs to the category of empiric medicine such as acupuncture, homeopathy and other natural healing methods.

Bioresonance therapy has been developed over the last 35 years in Germany.

At present many General Practitioners (as well as Dermatologists, Paediatricians and Naturopaths) in Germany have a Bioresonance therapist and use a Bicom device as part of their practice, getting very good results.

The Regumed Institute in Germany produces the patented Bicom devices and regulates the training of Bioresonance therapists worldwide.

The basic principles of Bioresonance therapy are confirmed by the latest findings in quantum mechanics and biophysics, however, they have not yet been widely accepted by the present doctrine.

In May 2009 the Regumed Institute won a court case at the Higher Regional Court in Munich (Germany). The Higher Regional Court (Oberlandesgericht Muenchen) gave permission to inform patients, therapists and the broad public 'that allergies can be tested without causing any pain and can be treated without any side-effects using the Bicom Bioresonance Therapy'. The court asserted that the proof of the efficacy of a medical method can be made with a sufficient amount of scientifically documented practical experience, and the Regumed Institute had presented these documentations to the court.

How does Bioresonance therapy work?

The Bicom device is highly computerised and has an Electro Acupuncture Probe. Bioresonance Therapy treatment session Bioresonance therapy (BRT) uses the patient's own electromagnetic oscillations to balance the energetic systems of the body.

It also uses oscillations of substances (e.g. viruses, food, chemicals, parasites, heavy metals) to reduce the toxic load in the body.

Original Source:

<http://muchbetterhealth.org/bioresonance/>

The aim is to restore the patient's capacity for self regulation.

Bioresonance therapy in addition aims to eliminate pathological oscillations and to strengthen the healthy ones.

Bioresonance therapy uses inversion therapy – mirror image waveforms – to oppose, reduce and eliminate unhealthy oscillations/frequencies from the body.

The following websites have good information on bioresonance therapy:

www.northernbioresonance.com.au (This website has very full and detailed information on how Bioresonance therapy works. Just click on 'How does BRT work' to access the info)

www.bicom2000.com

The official site of the German manufacturer of Bicom2000 devices, Regumed.